Venue: uMsunduzi Museum, Pietermaritzburg

The KZN Regional committee organised an Edu-Forum workshop under the theme ‘Using Online Platforms for Educational Programmes’. The workshop was facilitated by Dr Grant McNulty of McNulty Consulting who communicated with attendees through zoom. It was attended by over 30 individuals from different museums in KZN. The workshop focused on how museum professionals can make use of online platforms to market their museums, their work and for educational programmes. Museum professionals were taken on a step by step session on how to create online content for platforms such as WordPress; from creating short posts to adding image and videos. And the use of WordPress for digital exhibitions. There was a focus on the impact of online platforms in museum education and heritage conservation. It led to discussions on the future of the heritage sector and the opportunities for museums to extend their work.
